Can AI be fair?

Q·01

Most of the text AI learns from is written in a few languages. Whose way of seeing the world does it learn, and whose is missing?

Q·02

People disagree about history, politics and what is offensive. A model still has to answer. Can it ever be neutral, and who decides?

Q·03

Models learn from writing and art made by millions of people who were never asked. Is that how all learning works, or is it taking?

Questions like these are part of the competition.
